

Regarding the new Low Power FM service, it would be a huge mistake to allow new LPFM stations to take priority over existing translator services. I listen to K-LOVE every moment I'm in the car, and it's usually on at home as well. It grieves me to think that some unwholesomeness could soon be blaring over my radio instead of the ministry that is on K-LOVE. I have two little girls who I am desperately trying to raise in a supportive Christian environment, and I truly believe my K-LOVE translator is a crucial part of their upbringing.

Many people listen to and support K-LOVE. Christians and non-Christians alike want to hear good music that speaks of love and kindness, rather than hate and brutality. I can't imagine how many lives have been changed as people are scanning through the radio stations trying to find something to listen to (that is not offensive) and finding K-LOVE. I have heard their stories and cried. These life-changing events could not take place without K-LOVE.

America's children have garbage shoved at them from the time they are infants. Please don't take from them the opportunity to have God's light and love. Please don't take away K-LOVE.
